In this season of renewal, we pause to reflect on the blessings that have graced our journey.

To all of you who have opened your hearts to the suffering people of Burma, we say thank you. In the past, our major emphasis has been in the area of education, and you can see this in the wish list to support two educational endeavors. But in 2023 and 2024 we have tried to meet many more humanitarian needs than in the past.

We also give thanks to our wonderful board members who are increasingly taking on more responsibilities for helping to run Friends of Burma, which as we have repeatedly told you, is run by volunteers. Let us hope and pray for better times ahead for the wonderful country of Burma.

Access the Annual Report here. With insightful reports provided by our partners, the board put together a Wish List for various dire needs.

TOUCHING STORY FROM KACHIN STATE FROM ANONYMOUS

We received 2.5 million Kyats from Friends of Burma. With it, we provided cooking essentials to 81 households (333 people) at Waing Maw Lisu Baptist Church camp, and 63 households (228 people) at Waing Maw Little Lamb Church camp in Kachin State. Thank you for aiding these families.

CALL TO ACTION: A LETTER FROM SOLOMON KWI

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

I write to shed light on the dire situation facing the Karen and Karenni minority groups in Burma. Thousands of villagers are forced to flee into the jungle daily, leaving behind everything they own. They lack basic necessities like food and clothing, with humanitarian aid struggling to reach them due to tightened border security. We have connected with brave pastors and evangelists willing to risk their lives to bring aid and the Gospel to these displaced people. Last month, I visited some of these camps and witnessed the urgent need firsthand. I invite you to join me in supporting these efforts by donating to provide food, medicine, and school supplies to those in need. As 1 John 3:17 reminds us, we are called to help our brothers and sisters in need

Let us act with compassion and generosity in the name of Christ.

HUMANITARIAN EFFORTS IN INCREASED VIOLENCE CONFLICTS

Thanks to missionaries' donations, FOB has ramped up its humanitarian efforts in conflict-affected civilian communities across Rakhine State, Shan State, and Mandalay Region. USD 1000 in aid has reached 85 individuals and 8 households, providing essential food, water, medicine, mats, and pillows, regardless of religious or ethnic background. Dedicated pastors ensure unbiased distribution, with one pastor traveling an arduous eight-day journey, including biking, boating, and walking, to withdraw funds.

SHARING LOVE GIFTS TO SINGLE MOTHERS

Supporting vulnerable single mothers strengthens resilient communities. A donation of $1000 in March reached 25 single mothers in southeast Burma, providing emotional support and a sense of belonging. Personal visits made a profound impact, showing they are not forgotten amid their struggles as IDPs.

SPREAD THE WORD

If you are able to do so, please forward this newsletter to your friends, family, colleagues, and generous people. The people in Burma are in dire need of food, medicine, school supplies, and overall support. One of the surprise requests from people in the IDP camps is school supplies because they want to continue educating their children despite dire circumstances.

Through donors, Friends of Burma has been helping the people of Burma for forty years.

Tucked inside Thailand's Western border near Mae Sot, Tak, is Mae La Karen Refugee Camp (Beh Klaw). Mae La is home to some 34,063* internally displaced persons from Burma.

Refugees along the Thai-Burma border face urgent challenges, with increasing enrollment at schools like Kawthoolei Karen Baptist Bible School & College (KKBBS) and Kawthoolei Hope Theological Seminary (KHTS). With over 86,000 refugees in nine main camps, and a 20% rise in resettlement needs reported by UNHCR, the demand for support is critical.

Despite these challenges, the visionary leaders of KKBBS and KHTS persevere, relying on prayer, day-by-day resilience, and support from allies like you. KKBBS has specific needs outlined in their Wish List. Join us in celebrating their 40th Anniversary by donating to Friends of Burma.
